LEIPZIG

With a population of almost 600,000, Leipzig is the largest city in the Free State of Saxony. It is a historical center for business, trade and culture in central Germany. The city has an exciting history behind it and was the origin of the peaceful revolution in 1989. The so-called Monday demonstrations took place here, which resulted in the fall of the GDR and German reunification.

HIGHLIGHTS FOR YOUR VISIT TO LEIPZIG

STUTTGART

With 640,000 inhabitants, Stuttgart is one of the largest metropolitan regions in Germany and is primarily known as an industrial location. Large and well-known car manufacturers have their headquarters here. In contrast, the mild climate in the idyllic valley basin on the Neckar in and around Stuttgart means that wine can also be grown here.

HIGHLIGHTS FOR YOUR VISIT TO STUTTGART

- Stuttgart vineyards and wine tour
- Heidelberg Castle
- Stuttgart State Theater
- Mainau flower island
